Dear Parents and Students,

We are excited to announce the World's largest Book Writing Competition for school students, being organized by Education World in collaboration with NDTV.

Students have the unique opportunity to write and publish their own books, becoming young authors and competing for various awards. Participants in this competition do not need to pay any fee.

This competition is open from classes 1 to 10 who are passionate about writing.

All students who successfully write and publish their books will receive participation certificates.
